Townhouse

Dana Cifone

Townhouse in Greenwich, Connecticut, was always intended to be more than just a restaurant—it's a destination. My vision was to reimagine this historic two-story building into a space where every detail matters: layered textures, warm lighting, and a thoughtful flow between rooms. The result is a setting that feels both stylish and inviting, designed to bring people together for moments that are elevated yet effortless.

Townhouse offers experiences for every mood and time of day. Sunlit lunches on the patio, cocktails at the buzzing bar, chic Saturday brunches with friends, and vibrant dinners in one of our interior rooms; all capture a downtown energy. Whether you're celebrating, gathering, or simply treating yourself, Townhouse provides the perfect backdrop for connection.

While my heart is here, I also love stepping into the dining rooms of fellow restaurateurs—taking in their creativity, soaking up the energy, and appreciating the hospitality that defines our industry. Visiting other restaurants is not only inspiring, it's a way to celebrate our shared passion that brings us all to the table.

Follow along as I share a few local spots for your weekend at home, from Friday night cocktails to Saturday indulgences to a welcomed Sunday reset. townhousegreenwich.com | @townhousegreenwich

Pour

Friday Night Buzz

Pour in Mount Kisco creates a perfect blend of sophistication and ease for Friday night drinks, pairing craft cocktails with a vibrant neighborhood energy. Located at 241 East Main Street in Mount Kisco, this boutique bar and eatery is set inside a charming early 19th-century Victorian home, offering a warm and intimate ambiance. Soft candlelight fills the cozy rooms, encouraging relaxed conversations and a welcoming space to unwind.

The bar features an impressive collection of rare whiskies, including sought-after bottles like Pappy Van Winkle's Family Reserve and A.H. Hirsch Reserve, providing a unique tasting experience for aficionados. Complementing the drink selection is a thoughtfully curated menu of small plates, flatbreads, charcuterie, and cheeses, crafted to perfectly accompany the beverages.

Whether you're looking to decompress after a long week or start your weekend with friends, Pour offers a lively yet comfortable atmosphere. Its intimate setting and exceptional offerings make it a stand-out destination for an unforgettable Friday night. ## La Crémaillère

Sunday Reset

La Crémaillère brings a touch of effortless elegance to Sunday afternoons, offering a refined yet relaxed brunch experience in the heart of Bedford. Set in a beautifully restored 1750 farmhouse, the restaurant marries classic European sophistication with intimate charm—creating a setting that feels equal parts chic and comforting.

Every Sunday, guests can enjoy a curated prix-fixe menu that highlights the season's finest ingredients. The offerings shift regularly but often include elegant starters like fresh oysters, hand-cut steak tartare, or house-made pâté de campagne. Entrées might range from luxurious Jonah crab eggs Benedict and brioche French toast to perfectly grilled Faroe Island salmon or the signature Niman Ranch burger dressed with truffle aioli.

The atmosphere is sunlit and inviting, elevated by gracious service and a pace that encourages lingering over each course. With its relaxed sophistication and thoughtful cuisine, La Crémaillère makes Sunday brunch feel like a quiet indulgence—one best enjoyed slowly, with good company and even better food.
